A big thank you to:

Keely McWhorter and Madeline Amon who chose summer internship projects related to intimate partner violence.

Alexis Faller whose summer internship project focused on business opportunities for immigrant women; the resources and barriers. From the opening remarks on the status of women by Eleanor Jordan, Executive Director of the Kentucky Commission on Women, to the final session, "The Impact of Fear on Memory" it will be a full and informative day!

To be sure your day at the Summit includes a the box lunch— Register this week.

Date: Friday, September 14, 2012

Time: 9 am (Registration begins at 8:30 am)

Location: KTCTS Health Sciences Building 110 W. Chestnut Street

Voices at this Summit will be both voices with experience on workshop topics and voices of discovery.

We'll talk about history and women and the status of women today. We'll learn about problems, solutions, and brainstorm about where to go from here.

Who may attend? The Equal Voices Women's Summit registration is open to all women (or men) in who want to be more engaged in women's issues, advancing their careers and community.

Equal Voices is an opportunity to take in new information, share thoughts and generate new ideas to move Louisville women forward.

Participants will have opportunities throughout the day for discussion, to brainstorm and to provide written feedback.
